Large Audience Attends Three One Act Plays

A near capacity audience filled the Maryland Casualty Auditorium last Friday night to see the first public appearance of the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society for 1946. A series of three one-act plays was presented.

The three plays, "In the Zone" by Eugene O'Neill, "The Still Alarm" by George Kaufman and "The Monkey's Paw" by W. W. Jacobs marked the eighty-first year of the Society's existence and the first major post-war production.

Student Stagehands

Scenery, make-up, props and publicity were handled by the Society members themselves under the direction of Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., and Mannes F. Greenberg, business manager.

Stagehands C. Rodgers Kines, Philip Lohrey, Edward C. Barrett, Bernard M. Morenz, Joseph Thaler, Richard Reese, John A. Grimm, Austin L. Byrd and Edward G. Hart designed and handled the scenery.

Wide Advertisement

The publicity committee, William Heffner, George Herman, Richard Reese, Ryan H. Bijur, Frank Janowiak, Francis A. Rackensperger and William Johnson, utilized radio, newspapers, letters and posters to advertise the production.

For the three school days preceding the Thanksgiving holidays, a box office was operated in the cafeteria during lunch-periods and a miniature entertainment program presented.

Student Retreat Ended Wednesday

Catholic students of Loyola College made their annual retreat from Monday, December 2, until Wednesday, December 4. All exercises were conducted in the Gymnasium where each student was assigned a special seat. The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass was celebrated each morning and was followed by instruction, spiritual reading and Stations of the Cross. The Rev. Harry Furay, S. J., of the N. Y. Mission Board, was the Retreat Master.

Non-Catholic students attended three classes daily in which the Rev. Joseph Dougherty, S. J., and the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., presented a series of lectures entitled "A Philosophy of Life."

Sodality Dance Set For Sunday

Notre Dame boarders will be invited to trespass on the Evergreen campus next Sunday when the Loyola Sodalities hold this year's first social in the gymnasium recreation room.

The Junior and Senior Sodalities will play host to seventy-five NDames from three to six o'clock. Loyola students, whether or not members of the Sodality, are invited to attend. Punch and cookies will be served as refreshments.

Arrangements for the affair are being handled by Thomas Comber, chairman of the Senior Sodality's Social Life Committee.

Miss Kathleen Engers, Prefect of the Notre Dame Sodality, has arranged for the attendance of the Notre Dame guests.

Rector Thanks Workers Of Chapel Committees

"I want to take this occasion to express my sincere thanks to the Group Leaders, Captains, Lieutenants and other workers in the Alumni Chapel campaign. It was indeed most heartening to have such close association with our loyal alumni. It is one of the happiest experiences of my work here at Loyola. There is no occasion which cements fellow alumni closer together than when they are working for such a noble objective as the erection of the Chapel, when the spirits of men come close together and share mutually the consoling feeling of solemn dedication to a sacred cause in which all believe so deeply. I would say that at no time have I enjoyed more my association with my fellow-alumni than in this campaign. When we first started our work, I emphasized the fact that we wanted this Chapel, not from a single benefactor, but from the alumni and friends of the College, to bring us all permanently in closer touch with our Alma Mater and with each other. In the present world where there is so much disunion and division, it is inspiring to feel that an ideal such as we possess in this project can be such a powerful instrument for union — all for one and one for all."

"I am looking forward to the dinner-meeting of the Alumni Campaign Committee on Tuesday, December 10th at 6:30 p. m. in the Oak Room of the Library when I can thank the present committee for its excellent work before it disbands."

"I am sure that Our Lady of Evergreen has not been unobservant of the efforts of our workers. There will be no other Chapel in the country or in the world that will bear the complete title of "Our Lady of Evergreen". Just as her maternal vigilance followed the boys through the war and brought so many home safely, and just as her tender solicitude received the souls of those whom God called, so that same vigilance and solicitude will follow the work of her sons in striving to exhibit to the world a living monument erected in her honor."

"We are very proud of this title. It gives us a sense of her exclusive and very special proprietorship over the College and all of its students, and of our very special proprietorship of her continued protection and maternal interest. This should be a great source of confidence to all devoted Loyola men. When the Chapel is erected we will be able to point to the special house that we built in her name, where her Divine Son will always be present to grant our petitions through her powerful intercession. This should animate us with tremendous confidence in a world so distraught with conflict and uncertainty. Our support will not rest on the mere doings of men but on the solid strength and power of the Queen of Heaven and the King of Kings."

Edward B. Bunn, S. J. President

Seton Hall And La Salle Other Eastern Foes

by M. F. Mackey

The Greyhounds of Loyola College are now en route to the smallest state in the country to play one of the best basketball teams in the East—Rhode Island State. Loyola, playing its first road game of the year tonight with the Rhode Island Reds, should gain some valuable experience in first-class competition that will be apparent in the coming Mason-Dixon Conference games.

After the sellout game at Rhode Island State, the Greyhounds move down to South Orange, New Jersey, to play Seton Hall, another top Eastern cage team, tomorrow night. The Hounds will definitely not take a rest on Sunday; they'll be playing the final game of the road trip against La Salle College of Philadelphia, an annual arch-enemy.

Players Nursing Injuries

Lefty Reitz, when asked to comment on the team's chances of winning any of these rough assignments, smiled ruefully and began listing the players presently nursing injuries. Main cause for concern is the leg injury which Don Galloway, with shin splints, is trying to banish before the opening conference game.

Bernie Saltysiak's leg injury has almost completely healed, and this big, rugged floorman and rebound ace may see some action on the trip. Appendicitis didn't keep Fred Olinger away from too many practice sessions; he should be in shape before the season goes very far.

Starting Lineup

No definite starting lineup for the opening game with Rhode Island State has been announced. There are several first-string team possibilities. The starting five, whoever they will be, will get plenty of support from the rest of the team. Lefty Reitz announced that the entire varsity squad will make the trip North.

Among Loyola's top cage stars to battle the "big-time" Northern teams will be: Jim Lacy, high scorer.

Glee Club Will Present Carols On Sunday Night, December 15

The annual Christmas Entertainment at Loyola College will be presented this year by the recently reorganized Glee Club under the direction of Mr. George Kent Belows. Carols and a Christmas address by the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., will highlight the entertainment which will take place on Sunday evening, December 15, at 8:00 p. m. in the library.

This concert marks a return to the custom of Christmas recitals by Loyola students. During the war, Jesuit Scholastics from Woodstock College gave the entertainments and last year, members of the Veterans Club comprised the choir.

Invitations have been mailed to the families of all students and to Alumni and friends of the college. Refreshments will be served afterward.

Wiegand President

Elections to the club offices were held on Monday, November 25. William Wiegand was chosen president, George Murphy, vice-president, and Niles E. Fields, secretary. Donald Griffin has been appointed librarian.

Last year, Wiegand was tenor soloist at the entertainment. He has sung at many church and public concerts and was soloist at the

Committee Calls Off Cap And Tie Dance

The Freshman-Sophomore dance, originally scheduled for 9-1 tonight, has been canceled. The dance was planned to pay for the Freshman caps and ties, which were distributed last week.

The Veterans Administration, which pays for all the usual expenses of veteran students, has decided to meet this expense. Payment by non-veteran students will be arranged by other means at a later date.

Despite many protests of the freshmen, who possibly understood that it was their annual class dance, the affair was called off because the Freshman Dance Committee was unable to make plans for the dance on such short notice.

Ring Drawing Date Postponed To Jan. 8

The drawing for the Emerald Ring, originally scheduled to be held on November 30, has been postponed until January 8. The drawing is being held for the benefit of the Chapel Fund.

John J. Sweeney, Jr., chairman of the drawing, announced that it would take place between the halves of the Mt. St. Mary's game which will be played in the gymnasium. The value of the ring is $1200. It was donated to the College to aid the drive for the construction of the Memorial Chapel. Those desiring extra books may obtain them from the chapel office in the Faculty House.

Veterans Here Welcome Frosh

The Veterans Club presented a stag social in the Oak Room last Sunday, December 1, to acquaint the September freshmen with the aims and organization of the club. Peter Malloy, Bernard Saltysiak and William Shea handled the arrangements.

Club officers are placing emphasis upon increased freshman registration in the club and called the present enrollment "far from representative of the veterans in the school".

Recently the club drew up a proclamation protesting the trial and sentence of Archbishop Stepinac. A copy was sent to the United States State Department in Washington.

Future projects of the club call for an oyster roast and a dance sometime next year.

Class Pictures In Gym Today

Yearbook group pictures, including all classes and organizations, will be taken today in the College Gymnasium. Times at which the photos are to be taken are posted on the bulletin boards together with the names of those members who are in good standing in the various societies.

Individual Senior portraits were taken yesterday by Merin Studios of Philadelphia.

Moving along to keep in stride with the scheduled publication date of May 15, Editor Peter Malloy has completed final arrangements with Thompson-Ellis-Hutton, yearbook printers. At the same time, Malloy announced that all engravings would be done by Publicity Engravers of Baltimore.

The Yearbook is to be 88 pages in length. It will contain writeups of Seniors and all organizations.

In order to meet the expense of the book which will cost approximately $2400, it will be necessary to procure $1300 in advertisements. The price of subscription is $7.50 per book.

The number of books is limited to 250. Any underclassmen who desire to subscribe should see William Weigand, Mannes Greenberg or Thomas Conner.

Bellarmino Debaters Prepare For Season

Ten teams, of two members each, have been organized within the Bellarmino Debating Society so as to facilitate discussion of the national collegiate question of employer-employee partnerships. Five of the teams will specialize in affirmative arguments, the other five, in negative arguments.

In connection with this national topic, Mr. Frank Ploughman, president of Local 31, CIO Maritime Union, addressed the debaters in the college cafeteria, Saturday, November 16.

Mr. Ploughman was against any form of labor participation in management at the moment as impractical, attributing the main sentiment in favor of such participation to radical labor leaders. He also presented the debaters with information concerning Communist influence in American labor unions.

Junior Prom Proves Headache In Unusual Comedy Of Errors

by William Heffner

Freshman John Mohler claims it was all a mistake! Jean Whipple isn't sure how it happened! Mohler's freshman classmates are convinced it was all a product of his imagination and that Jean Whipple is about as real as Santa Claus!

It began a little after seven o'clock, the night of the Junior Prom. Mohler was in Union Station, Washington, looking for a train on which his date was supposed to come from Baldwin College, Virginia.

Time passed. John approached the conductor.

"What happened to the seven o'clock train from Staunton, Virginia?"

The conductor looked at him sadly. "No train from Staunton due until 4 a. m."

"Oh," mumbled John as he turned and left for the bus station to see if she had taken the bus instead.

Shortly afterward, Miss Jean Whipple (and baggage) arrived in Union Station and began looking for Mohler. It seems she had caught the train at Charlottesville. More time passed.

Forty miles away, Baltimore, this time, the Junior Prom was getting into full swing. Claude Thornhill was sending husky music through the gym, ashtrays and dance programs were filling up, and friends of Mohler were wondering where he and his now-legendary date were. Back in Washington, John called home (Baltimore).

"Any word from Jean?"

"Why, no," the voice answered. But the phone has been pretty busy—maybe she couldn't reach us."

John put the receiver back and decided he'd been stood up. Nearby, in Union Station, Jean Whipple hung up and wondered why the Mohler phone was always busy.

In the gym, it was almost time for intermission. "Mohler and his 'date' from Baldwin College," grinned someone sarcastically.

At 11:05, Mohler called home and said he was leaving for Baltimore. A few minutes later Jean Whipple finally got her call through to the Mohler residence and departed for Penn Station, Baltimore, where John's father agreed to pick her up.

It was almost one o'clock when the comedy of errors was finally resolved and the two met up with each other at the Mohler residence (Baltimore). It was much later when the two straightened things out between them.

Straightened out, that is, except that John was out twenty-three dollars and hadn't seen Claude Thornhill, the gym, or his girl in an evening gown! Added to that was the prospect of interminable ribbing by classmates.

Just be careful when you mention the Prom to Mohler. He's touchy about the subject.

Sociology Club Reopened; Elects Four Officers Today

by Terrence E. Burke

"Now, I'd like to see an article in the paper about the reorganization of the Social Science Club," said the Rev. Joseph J. Ayd, S. J., "but don't go and make it too humorous."

"The club has a serious purpose, which can only be achieved by sincere application on the part of the members," continued the only professor at Loyola who, it is rumored, marks examination papers while they flutter to the floor.

Election of officers for the Social Science Club will be held today at 1:35 in room 104. Membership in the club is restricted to students taking Fr. Ayd's Sociology course.

Seminars And Guest Speakers

Defunct since 1941, the club will continue its policy of frequent seminars given by members of the club, and occasional addresses by guest speakers on such topics as "Modern Treatment of the Insane," "Our Juvenile Court" and "County Poor Houses."

The Seminars are usually held immediately after the subjects have been treated in class, and constitute a review of the matter covered in the course. While exact dates are not available at this time, they will be held at 2:15 on Friday afternoons.

Tour State Institutions

Fr. Ayd also expects to lead the members in inspection tours of public and private institutions in the state, such as the City Hospital, Little Sisters of the Poor, Spring Grove and Mt. Hope Retreats.

Author, lecturer, prison Chaplain and teacher, Fr. Ayd has decided, at 65, that the best way to go through life is to see the humorous side of everything.

Fr. Ayd's energetic campaign in behalf of the welfare of the prisoners in the Maryland State Penitentiary won him city-wide acclaim. His letters were published in the Baltimore Sunpapers and called attention to prevalent abuses.

A few years ago, he organized the prisoners into a dramatic group and presented an original play entitled "Bars and Stripes".

Attends Fiftieth Execution

As Chaplain of the Maryland Penitentiary, Fr. Ayd has accompanied 9 men to the gallows, a majority of them his own converts. He will attend his fiftieth execution on Friday, December 13.

As author, Fr. Ayd has published Introductory Manual in Psychology, now in its fifth printing, an Outline of Sociology, out of print, and a Brief Introduction to the Divine Office, used in every U. S. Seminary, and variously referred to as "Ayd's Aid" and "Divine Aid."

"But," he admits, "the magnum opus of Sociology has not yet been printed. The work that will cover the whole field magnificently and completely is as yet unpublished. I'm still working on it."

Sodality Assists Chinese Mission

Senior and Junior divisions of the Sodality are now cooperating in a campaign to raise $500 for the razed Jesuit mission at Sienhsien, China. The impetus for the campaign was given when the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., received an appeal from the Chinese Jesuit Bishop, the Most Rev. Francis Xavier Tchao, S. J., (Bishop Tchao's letter is published on page 4).

The campaign will begin soon with the announced intention of securing a $1.00 contribution from each student. Similar campaigns are expected to begin in other Jesuit Colleges throughout the United States.

The Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J. and Mr. Joseph A. Sellinger, S. J., Sodality moderators, are directing the campaign.

Sponsoring Triduum

Both moderators urged student cooperation in the Triduum of Masses now being offered for the Holy Father.

The only requirements for the Triduum are attendance at Mass and reception of Holy Communion on three successive days between November 20 and December 8. A complete list of student participation will be sent to the Holy Father as a Christmas offering.

Mass For Players

Under the direction of the publicity committee of the Junior Sodality, a special Mass was celebrated last Friday morning for the success of the basketball team during the coming season.

Mr. Sellinger has announced that new members are still welcome in the Junior Sodality. A small dance will be sponsored by the Junior Sodality during the Christmas holidays.

Neville Requests Veterans Attend To V A Details

Mr. Edward Neville, of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, has asked veterans at Loyola to report promptly any changes in address to the regional office at 1315 St. Paul Street, Baltimore 2, Maryland. This will prevent all but a minimum of delay in the mailing of subsistence checks.

Proper change of address forms may be obtained from Mr. Neville, who is located in the basement of the Science Building. Office hours are posted on the bulletin boards.

Many Checks Returned

Many subsistence checks are returned to the VA each month because of the postal regulation which does not permit forwarding of the checks.

Mr. Neville also cautioned veterans as to the proper method of addressing registered mail to the administration offices. If the letter is marked "for addressee only", it can only be delivered to that person. Such letters are often returned because the VA official to whom it is addressed may be away from the office on business.

Changes In Schooling

Veterans who wish to change their educational objective—such as changing from law to business administration—should receive the prior approval of the VA. Such approval should also be obtained before a transfer from one school to another. A veteran expecting to make such a change is requested to get in touch with the training officer well in advance of the contemplated transfer.

Transfer Notification

Veterans who wish to withdraw from school should write Mr. Neville at the St. Paul Street address. This will make future enrollment in education or training under the G. I. Bill easier to accomplish.

"These reminders," said Mr. Neville, "should help to facilitate government aid to veterans. Often benefits as important as the subsistence checks will be withheld for months because of some such minor detail."

Criticism of Greyhound Given By Cross-Section of Students

"What is your opinion of THE GREYHOUND" was the topic of a recent survey taken among a number of the students of Loyola College. Only a small percentage of the student body was questioned but the responses seem to represent the opinion of the entire student body.

The students were selected at random and they had no affiliation with THE GREYHOUND whatsoever.

The following answers were received in response to the question set forth:

Robert S. Crow, Jr., Senior, B.S.I. "Give the veterans a chance to express their opinions. Let the students, by their letters, make criticisms, both pro and con, of the paper and print the letters."

James A. Schwind, Freshman, B.S.I. "Compared with other college newspapers, THE GREYHOUND is head and shoulders over all."

Thomas F. Malooly, Sophomore, Ph.B. "I think that the Watchdog is a high school type of column, otherwise it's O. K."

James C. Donohue, Junior, B.S.I. "THE GREYHOUND is very adequate."

Raymond J. Hojnaski, Freshman, B.S.I. "It is a fine paper, lacking only in editorial viewpoint of world-wide events."

Edward L. Hillier, Freshman, Ph.B. "THE GREYHOUND is pretty full and complete, but I would like to see a wider sports coverage from other colleges."

Joseph T. Bunn, Senior, B.S.I. "THE GREYHOUND is no worse than other years."

James Hodges, Freshman, B.S.I. "The boys don't get enough say for themselves. There appears to be too much moderation."

J. Fred Bampfield, Senior, B.S.I. "It is a fine paper only it has too many scattered ads. I would like to see a special column for public opinions of the students on problems of student interest."

Michael F. Connor, Freshman, B.S.I. "THE GREYHOUND covers all sports events well. I like a lot of sports news and I enjoy reading it very much."

James B. Brooks, Sophomore, B.S.I. "The articles all seem to have been written by the same individual and they appear typed and conform to one man's style."

Bernard A. Saltysiak, Senior, B.S.I. "The articles that appear continually in THE GREYHOUND are well written and cover their topics adequately, but in my opinion they do not concern topics that the students want. THE GREYHOUND is a student newspaper and should be mainly concerned with school affairs."

William B. Brown, Senior A.B. "The paper doesn't consider the students' standpoint fully enough. The articles are usually well-written and timely enough, but don't interest the students as they should because they'd rather see a students' viewpoint on these topics."

Francis McFarland, Freshman, B.S.I. "At times, the editorials are corny but the paper as a whole, and especially the sports page, is okay."

Carrell L. Jenkins, Freshman, B.S. II. "THE GREYHOUND devotes too much space to serious matter. The students do not look forward to reading the next issue."

Richard Bradyhouse, Freshman, B.S.I. "The Watchdog is very biased; it shows too much favoritism."

Paul J. Feeley, Sophomore Ph.B., "Being a school paper THE GREYHOUND should be very personal. Although I think it is well-written and edited, it has become too impersonal and hence holds interest mainly for a select few rather than the whole student body."

1000 Students

A good deal of comment has been stirred up by the news that two temporary buildings have been acquired for the campus and should be installed by the early months of next year. The expected enrollment will be over 1000.

Loyola thus solves, as far as it can, a problem which faces all American colleges today. The many veterans who are now given the opportunity to attend college comprise a favorable trend in the educational level of the nation but a real physical problem for hard-pressed colleges and universities.

An additional problem faces the Catholic college. The college graduates of the next few years will constitute the next generation of Americans much more fully than in the past, because of their number. They will also constitute the intellectual thought of America. Catholic thought and Catholic ideals of action should be developed in as many students as possible now so that they will be a recognized influence in the future of America.

But it is not an easy metamorphosis—this transformation of a college whose normal enrollment is 600 to one whose enrollment, for the time being, may be well over 1000. The necessity of such a move is often lost on those of us who are now safely ensconced in college and can look disdainfully at those who are attempting to enter.

As He Saw It by Elliott Roosevelt

Elliott Roosevelt is painfully alarmed by the obvious disunity of the "Big Three". As He Saw It is an effort to prove that this disunity does not arise from policies pursued by his eminent father.

There can be no argument here. Even without the testimony piled up by the young Roosevelt, it is evident that our policies abroad have come in for marked revision, and in some instances, a complete about-face since the untimely death of Franklin Roosevelt. No one can say with certainty that our relations with Britain and, more especially, with Russia, would have been better if he had lived, but he is certainly dissolved of complicity in fashioning our current attitude.

In reporting the various conferences from the Atlantic Charter Meeting to the Yalta Conference, Elliott Roosevelt adds nothing to what is already known. The meetings are made interesting, though, by the quick character sketches of people with headline names.

Winston Churchill is the villain of the piece; his son Randolph is impaled in a paragraph and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek is depicted as a charming but insidious female of the E. Phillips Oppenheim genre. "Uncle Joe" Stalin is the biggest surprise of all. He is shrewd, but affable, and given to extravagant displays of affection.

Churchill and Stalin are represented as embodying two diametrically opposed worlds; Roosevelt, as the arbiter. Churchill, according to Roosevelt-fils, tries all his craft and cunning to effect a second front in the Balkans so as to get there before the Russians and insure the perpetuation of British Imperialism. Roosevelt, motivated by the strategy best calculated to kill Germans, insists upon a French invasion and Stalin, for reasons of his own, goes along with Roosevelt. As we know, the Normandy invasion did come off, but a concession was made to Churchill in the Anzio and southern France invasions.

It is interesting to note that the name of FDR's presidential successor is not once used in this largely political treatise. However, this is the only instance where Roosevelt appears at all subtle, and one wonders how he ever will be able to face those others whom he so mercilessly harpoons. This, as a matter of fact, is a major failing of the book—personalities are either all black or all white and one is prone to suspect the objectivity of the author from the start. Eleanor Roosevelt seems to hit this point in the Foreword:

"Naturally every human being reports the things which he sees and hears and lives through his own point of view."

Letters To The Greyhound

(The following letter was received recently by the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J. Fr. Higgins is now directing a campaign by the two divisions of the Sodality in Bishop Tchao's behalf.)

Sienhsien, Hopeh, China.

September 19, 1946

Reverend Father Rector:

Pax Christi

Kindly permit one of your confreres, Chinese Jesuit Bishop of the Mission of Sienhsien, to expose to your Reverence, the sad state of our Mission in view of obtaining financial aid.

During the occupancy of the Japanese Army, without any cause whatever, 43 of our personnel were executed, namely: 4 priests, 2 brothers, 9 seminarians, 11 catechists, 14 domestics, 2 virgin catechists and 1 Catholic lay man; some were killed in Heuekien, August 29th, 1939; the others in Sienhsien on January 24th, 1942.

Presently the Mission is not in a better condition than before the armistice, as it is now occupied by the communists; our provisions have been pillaged by these latter, last December; our Superiors insulted and beaten, so much so, that our young scholastics and seminarians all evacuated during the night by jumping over the wall of enclosure: actually we live as best we can in our partly devastated residence, of which half is still occupied by the Reds.

But all this is nothing compared to the distress which is mine when I consider the task which encumbers upon me as to the formation of the junior seminarians, future hope of the Mission, 63 in number, not counting the 23 senior seminarians; but I am financially ruined and powerless before such a crushing task. Feed and clothe 100 seminarians, especially during these hard times when the cost of living is so high, is not easy by any means!

I have opened correspondence with 26 Jesuit Colleges in America soliciting alms; if each college could give me yearly $500.00 U. S. it would amply defray the annual expenses of all the seminarians. Therefore, Reverend Father Rector, I count on the charity of each college, and in each college on the charity of the student; $1.00 per student would suffice and be gratefully accepted.

With the expression of my most sincere gratitude, believe me, Reverend Father Rector,

Servus in Xto,

Fr. Xav. Tchao, S. J.

To The Editor of THE GREYHOUND
Dear Tom,

Here is a little poem which I wrote about the music activities here at Loyola. The puns aren't too good, but I think those who have to work over the rehearsals all Monday afternoon will certainly appreciate it:

Hush to the sound of the cellos,
List while the loud cymbal clangs
To the chorus conducted by Bellow
And the orchestra maestro'ed by Bangs.

Music, sweet music that mellows,
Music that liltily hangs
Under the baton of Bellows
(Instruments following Bangs).
Voices in chorus, good fellows,
Blending their songs without pangs
With alto selections by Bellows,
Cadenzas conducted by Bangs.
Music's at last in the limelight,
But its future uncertainly hangs
For the choir unceasingly Bellows
And the orchestra constantly Bangs.

Dear Mr. Driscoll,

A few weeks ago I received THE GREYHOUND, as I have been regularly, along with the card which prompted me to write this letter.

Last Friday I was discharged from the Army. I am now on Terminal Leave.

I had been stationed at Camp Holabird in the Counter Intelligence Corps. But on May 10th fractured my ankle sliding in a basketball game. As I have now discarded my crutches and more recently my cane, perhaps I'll have the pleasure of meeting you at the Alumni basketball game November 30th.

Best wishes to you, Mr. Driscoll and to THE GREYHOUND.

An alumnus and friend

The Evergreen

"Don Plans Halted By Student Apathy" was the front page headline in the November 12 issue of the San Francisco Foghorn, the student newspaper of the University of San Francisco. The news article and an accompanying editorial went on to say that the Don, the University yearbook, was receiving so little attention from the student body that only a few were showing up to have their pictures taken.

Loyola men have long been known for their fondness for joining extra-curricular activities the day before the yearbook pictures are taken and resigning from them the day after. There seems to be no danger that this tendency will be reversed.

Nonetheless, there has been a marked indifference in student opinion as to the size, solvency and eventual publication of the 1947 Evergreen. It must be admitted that the yearbook campaign to date has been none too forceful or widespread. But when the call does come for subscriptions or patrons fees, every student should seriously consider his ability to cooperate. A well-rounded yearbook is an essential component of a complete college life.

Interlude

Retreats often bring a welcome interlude in the humdrum life of every college student. It is a time for a renewal of spiritual life, if we wish to cooperate with the idea of a retreat, but regardless of that, it is a time for relaxation and no homework.

Perhaps the most striking thing about the retreat this year was the incongruity of its surroundings. We attended Mass under the shadow of the basketball hoops; during the instructions we squirmed on seats whose hardness was meant to pass unnoticed in the fervor of a tight game; it was always a matter of indecision as to whether the proper thing to do was to stand, to kneel or to sit.

Quite a bit of imagination was necessary to transform a gymnasium into a church. It all served to bring out a fact which we habitually overlook: the need for an adequate students' chapel.

A Career In Accountancy

by Andrew B. Geckle

Accountancy is probably the least familiar to the general public of all the professions. That it is generally misunderstood is shown very clearly in the words of the famous American scrapbook writer, Elbert Hubbard:

"The typical auditor is a man past middle age, spare, wrinkled, intelligent, cold, passive, non-committal, with eyes like a codfish; polite in contact but at the same time unresponsive; calm and damably composed as a concrete post or plaster of Paris cast; petrification with a heart of feldspar and without the charm of the friendly germ or a sense of humor."

We have yet to meet such a distorted character of any profession and particularly in the accounting field. On the contrary, an accountant is the holder of an esteemed position in the business world.

Lists Necessary Qualities

Accounting is simply defined as a profession whose members offer for compensation services in all matters relating to the analysis, classification, recording, verification of presentation and interpretation of financial facts. Needless to say, reason alone tells us that intelligence and ability are the prime requisites for a successful accountant.

The personal characteristics and aptitudes necessary for attaining success in this field may be listed as follows:

- high moral character
- imagination, initiative and perseverance
- pleasing personality
- self-assurance and willingness to accept responsibility
- ability to speak and write effectively
- tact in dealing with others.

Undergraduate Courses

The necessary courses which a college student must take in preparation for the rating of a Certified Public Accountant are all given here at Loyola. The five main subjects are: theory of accounts, practical accounting, auditing, commercial law and economics. In addition, courses in English are particularly appropriate. One must first sell his talents and recommendations and then must maintain a professional demeanor that commands respect.

The official C. P. A. title is conferred when the applicant passes an examination before the State Board on the five subjects listed above. The actual questions of the examinations vary from state to state but the examination of Maryland is substantially that of New York and other well-known state boards.

Contrary to popular impression, the field of accountancy is not overcrowded. There are only 2500 C. P. A.'s in the United States and only 300 of these are women. A career in accounting today offers both professional distinction and earnings fully equal to those offered in law, medicine or engineering.

Night School Adds Courses For Second Term Students

The Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., recently announced several changes and new courses in the second term of the Night School beginning January 20, 1947. Registration, now open, will close January 18.

The course in "Individual Ethics" originally listed as not offered this term, will be given on Wednesday evening at 8:20. This completes the trilogy of the ethics group, with the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., teaching "General Ethics" and the Rev. Thomas M. Brew, S. J., "Individual Ethics".

Parliamentary Procedure Course

In the Industrial Relations section, a course on Parliamentary Procedure has been started with Joseph P. Colin of Holy Cross College and the Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., acting as chairman. Theory and practice in conducting meetings, duties of officers and about twenty or more of the common motions will be studied in detail on Thursdays from 6:30-8:15.

As a help in this course, the library has added a special shelf of reference works including Robert's "Rules of Order", Cushing's "Book of Parliamentary Procedure" and the textbook for the course, "ABC of Parliamentary Procedure".

Communism and Russia

The Soviet Union comes in for its share of attention with the "Eastern Europe since World War II" course given by Dr. Valentine de Balla. Dr. de Balla, who has traveled extensively in Europe, is a native of Hungary and lived there under the Soviet rule. His lectures will treat first, the theoretical basis of Communism, secondly, the recent internal development of the Soviet Regime and finally, Russian Foreign Policy.

Dr. Francis E. Litz of the English department has canceled his May course in "Shakespeare" and will extend the "English Survey" course to cover three terms. Also in this department, a second session in Oral English has been added at 6:30 on Tuesday evening, taught by Mr. Clarence De Haven of the Veterans Institute of Baltimore City College. He is a specialist in voice culture and oral presentation.

Modern History

Another addition is the nineteenth and twentieth century course in European History under the direction of Dr. Janet Bassett Johnson, Professor of History at Polytechnic.

Accounting has been added as the third major in Business Administration. The two other majors are Management and Salesmanship.

IRC Meeting Held At Vassar

Loyola's International Relations Club under the direction of Gus A. Crenson, club president, participated in an International Relations discussion assembly held at Vassar College on November 29 and 30.

In the Far Eastern panel, Crenson upheld the affirmative of the proposition that the U. S. policy in Korea be based on the elimination of the 38th degree parallel and Russian and American administration be abandoned in favor of a Korean government based on national self-determination. He pointed out that one of the best insurances of peace in the Far East is to establish a free and independent Korea in place of the highly expensive dual occupation of the country.

"There can be no excuse for occupying a country whose people are friendly to the United Nations and who have always been opposed to Japanese expansion in the Orient, now that the Japanese oppressors have been eliminated from the country," he said.

Edward C. Barrett, secretary of the club, represented Loyola on the negative of the proposition that the United States withdraw its troops from China.

Barrett pointed out that an immediate withdrawal of U. S. troops from China could mean disaster.

Varsity Opens Cage Season With Victory Over Alumni

by Don Fay

Lefty Reitz introduced his Greyhounds to a full house at the Evergreen gymnasium last Saturday night, and after experiencing some uneasy moments in the final stages of the game, came off with a close 52-49 triumph over a fighting Alumni five.

Despite the usual first game raggedness, the tilt afforded numerous thrills, especially in the final period, as the alumni trailing by 15 points, continually sliced the leader's margin, but failed to muster enough points as time ran out.

Score Five Straight Points

Carroll Feeley, alumni forward who played a steady game all night, dropped in a left hand pivot shot to narrow the varsity lead to 45-42 with four minutes to play. Bill Ferguson then countered with a neat shot, and after Barthelme of the grads scored two foul shots, the Hounds strung together five straight points as Bill Johnson tossed in a free shot and Jim Bailey inserted a pair of two-pointers.

However, two quick layups by George Bardelman and Feeley and a foul shot by the former made the count 52-47. Jack Cummings then tapped in a rebound with forty seconds remaining, and the alumni called time.

The alumni squad took four hurried shots after the rest, but failed to score.

Galloway Sets Pace

The varsity had rolled to a convincing 14-7 lead at the end of the first period, as Don Galloway, elongated Hound center, scored five points to set the pace. Resting his starting five, Reitz saw his subs outscored in the second stanza by 14-7, and the home forces led by a scant 21-19 score at halftime.

Second half action was a carbon copy of the first. The opening team rushed to a safe 40-27 lead at the close of the third quarter, but another basket barrage by the "old men" tightened the play considerably in the last frame.

Lacy High Scorer

The entire rosters of both squads saw action, with all the alumni and twelve of the varsity figuring in the scoring. Jim Lacy hit the mark four times in 11 tries from the floor and tallied a foul goal to annex high scoring honors for the winners. Barthelme, who was the state high scorer last season, also scored nine points for the losers.

er in the State in 1943-44; Don Galloway, smooth, veteran player whose graceful antics on the basketball court indicate a naturally good athlete.

Other Outstanding Players

Tom Gisriel, matching Galloway for height, will give opponents plenty of trouble fighting for rebounds and for possession of the ball generally. In this department, Sid Roche is also going to be a big help to the squad. With Roche and Gisriel in the Loyola lineup, there will be few opposing players trying to "crash" the basket for a shot.

When the going gets rough and the atmosphere is high-strung, Gene O'Connor's cool playing will pay off in the clinch. Ed McGarry, standing 5'9" in his sneakers, is one of the scrappiest men on the squad. Wishy Galvin can be counted on for some fancy set shots; his experienced playing will be appreciated when the field goals are needed.

from Galloway and Andy O'Donnell who scored seven points apiece. Tom Gisriel sported the best average for the night, connecting for three field goals in five attempts. The varsity squad scored 23 two-pointers in 71 tries and 8 fouls out of 13.

Mason-Dixon Conference Prepares For Big Season

The 1946-47 edition of Loyola basketball wizardry will experience contact with a sizable representation of Eastern court quintets, listing representatives from seven states and the District of Columbia.

Besides the knowledge of what to expect from our own court squad, it is always a good plan to have an insight into the capabilities of the opposition. So, at this point, we'll try to briefly give you the word on the teams with whom the Greyhounds will tangle.

Mason-Dixon Opponents

The Alumni and Fort Belvoir games are already history, so we'll start with a swing around the Mason-Dixon circuit. Gallaudet College has one of the weaker teams in the Conference, but their players are always in excellent condition and consistently play in the never-say-die manner.

American University is again under its old coach, Staff Cassell, a hardened exponent of the zone defense, and will have a completely new team. We expect plenty of trouble from the Eagles, who will be defending their Mason-Dixon Championship of last season. Randolph-Macon will be sporting last year's regulars plus a fair amount of new talent, and figures to make a good name for itself.

Conference Title Threats

Keep your eye out for Mt. St. Mary's — they're always tough, especially on their home floor. Incidentally, the Mounts expect to have part of their 1944 championship outfit back for this campaign. There's nothing definite on Catholic University at this stage, but we do know that Eddie LaFond, the Cardinals' Athletic Director, made it known last year that he was tired of losing and would do something definite about it in the 1946-47 season.

Next in line, we find three opponents who are rated as 'big guns' in the approaching Mason-Dixon Conference race. The Sho'men at Washington College feel confident they will have a great team with their 1943 champ quintet back intact plus some of last year's club, and their new material.

Johns Hopkins, our neighbors down Charles St. way, expect an uplift in all their athletics during this scholastic year with the acquisition of Coach Howdy Meyers, former three-sport mentor at St. Paul's School. Western Maryland's Green Terrors are always tough apples for us. Their boys play a rugged style of basketball, and with the addition of new basketball talents from Baltimore high schools, Coach Bruce Ferguson will have a fighting outfit.

The University of Baltimore is returning to the court this year, and will be playing some Mason-Dixon teams.

Stubborn Outside Competition

Some of the season's most stubborn competition will stem from teams outside our own conference. Rhode Island State always has one of the most powerful teams in the New England district. Seton Hall is touted as a powerhouse among Eastern teams.

La Salle rates near the top of the list in the Philadelphia area. Villanova parades constantly as a sharp rival of the Green and Gray, being the alma mater of Coach Lefty Reitz. Alderson-Broadus won last year's West Virginia State Collegiate Championship.

The University of Scranton's Royals anticipate a better quintet than last year, when they defeated top-notch outfits. Albright College is an unknown quantity at this time, so we'll just have to wait and see.

Basketball Co-Captains For 1946

Gene O'Connor, (left) and Sid Roche (right) were chosen co-captains of the basketball team for 1946 at a meeting of the players on Thursday, November 21. Both are members of the Senior Class.

Swimmers Open Drills; Arrange Full Schedule

Another intercollegiate sport was added to Loyola's post war athletic program with the initial practice of the reorganized swimming team on November 19.

Bish Baker, newly appointed assistant to Lefty Reitz's coaching staff, has taken charge of the prospective candidates.

Previous experience was found to be plentiful among the twenty aspirants. Returning from the winning '42 team are Leon Greenbaum and Bruzz Daily, backstroke and 220 respectively. From the highly regarded Bainbridge Naval Center's team come Dick Davis, efficient diver. Jack Blondell took individual honors in many meets for Loyola High's natators last year, and Clint Bamberger was an outstanding member of the Meadowbrook swimming club. Other candidates showing promise are Jim Oaster and Albert Dunn, a diver.

The tentative schedule of this year's tank team includes five meets. Two meets with American University of Washington, and one with West Chester Teachers' College are still pending.

Reitz has announced that there will be an admission charge at all swimming events.

The home meets will be held in the Swimming Pool in the Gymnasium and admission will be by registration card, with a charge of fifty cents to non-students, and members of the Alumni. All meets will be held in the afternoon.

The schedule:

Jan. 8—Rider College (home)
Jan. 18—La Salle (home)
Jan. 24—Randolph Macon (away)
Feb. 21—Randolph Macon (home)
Feb. 22—Swarthmore (away)

Pep Rally

Spotlighting Bill Dyer, Buddy Jeannette, and former and present stars of the basketball team as guest speakers, a pep rally was held Thanksgiving Eve to inaugurate the current court season.

Sporting new uniforms, gray flannel trousers and green sweaters, the cheerleaders introduced three original parodies written by head cheerleader George Herman. The Glee Club was on hand to act as the nucleus of the cheering section and to set the key for the tunes.

B Squad Quintet Featured In Varsity Preliminaries

Loyola's B Squad, comprised of approximately twenty prospects for starting positions on the junior Greyhound court team, is holding daily practice sessions in the gymnasium. The squad is coached by Mr. Ned Stevenson and Franny Mueller, a stellar performer on past Green and Gray championship teams.

Nineteen high school and college teams are on the tentative schedule being drawn up for the team, the first of which was Calvert Hall. The Cardinal quintet met the B Squad on December 4th in a preliminary game before the Loyola-Fort Belvoir tilt.

Although they had not picked their starting line-up when interviewed on the subject, the B Squad mentors reported that several candidates made favorable impressions in early workouts. Jack Wintz, Jack Whalen, Stew Galloway and Ed Hughes were especially praised by Mr. Stevenson when the latter was questioned on team prospects.

Main difficulty, according to the coaches, is the lack of height in the pivot spot. They hope to overcome this deficit by added speed and teamwork. These two factors are constantly being stressed in the squad's afternoon workouts.

B Squad games will start at 7:00 p. m.

Running With The Hounds

by Tim Parr

This morning the Greyhound quintet entrained for Kingston, Rhode Island, to open up tonight before a sellout crowd, with the Reds of Rhode Island State. This will be the first leg of their three game northern trip.

Those of you who follow collegiate basketball know that the Reds always floor one of the top teams in the New England District. In fact last year, Rhode Island led the nation in average score per game. After their initial encounter, the Hounds move on to South Orange, New Jersey, to engage a top Eastern team, Seton Hall, in their modern and spacious gym. Sunday afternoon they complete the three day trip, tangling with La Salle College, which rates near the top in the Philadelphia area. This three day basketball journey will be the toughest part of the Hounds' 1946-47 schedule. Win, lose or draw, the Green and Gray five is representing your college on the hardwood this season, and it is your duty to support the team, and help carry the name of Loyola to national recognition in intercollegiate basketball circles.

* * * * *

Although the Cross Country team has come out on the short end of the score in every meet this season, attention should be paid to the one Loyola harrier who has taken individual scoring honors in each of these contests. He is George Brown, ex City College thinclad, and presently in his freshman year at Evergreen. Brown has a smooth stride, and steady pace, and his constant drive will always make him a top contender for scoring honors in any race. Keep your eye on George next season; he will be the man to beat in the conference.

Several weeks ago a call was issued for entries in an intramural swimming meet. The purpose of the meet was to get an insight on the caliber of material available for a swimming team this season. Altogether too few men answered the call. Whenever a call for candidates is issued by the coach of a team, the number of answers are far too small for a college of this size. Remember, this is your college, and it is up to you to build a name for Loyola athletically as well as scholastically. Whenever a call for candidates is issued, if you have any ability at all in the sport, come out for the team, and let the coach make the decision as to your ability. Every team plays a representative schedule meeting the top college teams in this section. Let's go now fellows, keep your eyes on the athletic bulletin board, and give the coaches your support when they call for candidates.

The 1946 Soccer season closed with Johns Hopkins defeating Washington College to cop the Mason-Dixon Conference soccer championship, followed by Western Maryland, Washington, Loyola, and Delaware in that order.

A post season soccer game to be played in December in New York will bring together two all-star teams, one representing the north, and the other the south, with the southern players being picked from the various colleges in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

For the benefit of those who are in doubt about the regulations covering admission to basketball games at Evergreen this season, the final word is that admission will be by season tickets, or 85¢ per game. All seats are reserved, and about 200 seats are available.

Top Athlete Will Receive Trophy

Information was received this week from the Adam Hat Sports Welfare Committee of New York declaring that that organization, under the general chairmanship of Jack Dempsey, will present a trophy to the outstanding athlete of Loyola College.

Dempsey's letter stated that the award, the Adam Hat Sports Welfare trophy, is to be given to the student considered the top athlete of the college by the vote of the student body. THE GREYHOUND will supervise the balloting and announce the results.

Special characteristics to be watched are enthusiasm, team spirit and athletic ability.

Since the award includes participants in all major sports, the voting will not take place until about May 15.

Bridgewater Harriers Win M-D Cross Country Crown

George Brown, Loyola's cross-country ace, suffered his first defeat of the season in the Mason-Dixon Conference championship race run at Gallaudet College in Washington.

George Brown crosses finish line first at Hopkins.

George finished a close third behind Hackett of Catholic U. and Trachel of Hopkins. The Greyhound team, plagued with injuries, placed seventh in the contest run on November 26th. Although the leaders were close over the entire four mile distance, Brown was never able to overtake Hackett, who covered the circuit in 21:06.2. Despite the fact that George had already bested Trachel in a dual meet earlier in the season, the Jay runner finished strongly to nab the second place slot.

Three-Time Winner

George finished first in all three of the Greyhound hill-and-daler's regular meets. He arrived thirty seconds ahead of the field against Gallaudet on the same course over which the championship trial was held.

Brown repeated his performance two weeks later when he covered the Homewood four mile course in 24:01.8, a full minute faster than Trachel, the Hopkins ace.

His third victory was against Mount St. Mary's, whom the Loyola harriers entertained at Clifton Park. Although the Greyhound team lost, George ran in his usual form and took individual honors easily.

Back Next Year

George is a freshman this year, as is the rest of the Greyhound team. Because of his outstanding performance this season and the fact that he will be back, Coach Jim Norris is already optimistic about the Hounds chances next Fall. "Now that we've gained some experience," he said, "we can expect a great cross-country team next year." With George Brown running for him, he has good cause to be optimistic.

Mason-Dixon Conference Cross Country Championship Race Order of First Eight Finishers:

1. Hackett, Catholic U.
 2. Trachel, Johns Hopkins
 3. Brown, Loyola
 4. Hicks, Bridgewater
 5. Hines, Gallaudet
- Winning Time: 21:06.2
Winning Team: Bridgewater

Goodman Appointed Wrestling Coach; Material Promising

Phil Goodman, last year's wrestling coach, has been reappointed by the Loyola Athletic department for this coming season. He started his career as a matman at City College and later Goodman wrestled for the Young Men's Hebrew Association. After graduating from the University of Baltimore Law School he toured Europe with an American wrestling team. Goodman also competed for the International Olympics before starting a law practice here in Baltimore.

Many Veterans

Among the many men who are returning to this year's team are Phil Lohrey, Mus Bower and George Buchness. In addition, there are Jack Enoch, Bob Gamson, who starred at City College, Frank Rackensberger, John Moehler, George Alderman, Bud McFarland and Frank Janowiak. Lohrey was only defeated once last year and Mus Bower was once Maryland Scholastic Champion during his high school days.

Full Schedule

Their opening match will be with the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Virginia on December 16. Franklin Marshall College is next on January 22, at Lancaster, Pennsylvania. On February 1, Washington College will be entertained here at Evergreen.

The wrestlers then travel to Washington for a match with Gallaudet College on February 7. Johns Hopkins will be taken on at Evergreen the following week and finally Western Maryland College will come to Loyola on February 21, for a tilt with the matmen.

Twenty-five candidates have come out for the team.

Lena's Hyenas Mural Champs

Lena's Hyenas proved they couldn't be stopped as they romped to their sixth straight win and the league championship by defeating the Ramblers, 31 to 27.

The first half was played on an even level. Short passes over the center to Paul Connor kept the Ramblers threatening all through the first half. But the defense set up by the Hyenas allowed only two touchdowns and the score at the half was a 14-14 tie.

Gene O'Connor made a spectacular over the shoulder catch of a 50 yard pass from Sid Roche to end the deadlock early in the third period and the Hyenas took the lead.

Two more quick touchdowns and a field goal by Wish Galvin who converted all four of the extra points put the Hyenas way in front with a 31-14 margin.

Late in the fourth quarter the Ramblers began to retaliate. Two touchdown passes to Ed Hart and Herb Prescott by Frank Goldsmith, who tossed all four of the Ramblers touchdown passes, brought the final score up to 31-27.

Pictured above is one of the temporary buildings recently announced as allocated to Loyola for education of veterans who cannot at present enter the college because of crowded facilities. The buildings as yet have not been officially assigned. The building above was used formerly as a Bachelor Officer's Dormitory. The other building allocated, a former Administration Building, is not shown.

One-Story Temporary Buildings To Be Moved Here By January

It will be like old times for Navy veterans when the two war surplus buildings, relics of a decommissioned Naval Ammunition Depot, are erected on the college campus.

Pictured above is a former BOQ (Bachelor Officers' Quarters), now located at the abandoned Hawkins' Point Naval Base. Assignment of this structure to the college, along with the similar Administration building, is now pending.

Both buildings are one-story high and divided into a large number of small rooms. When erected on the campus, at a date in the near future not yet announced, the interiors will be entirely rebuilt to provide four or five classrooms in each.

Both buildings have adequate facilities for heating, lighting and plumbing.

To Accommodate Overflow
The Rev. Robert G. Arthur, S.J., Dean of Discipline, has announced that an enrollment of 1100 students is expected next Spring. Consequent overflow from the Science and Library buildings will be taken up by the new buildings.

Authority for the allocation is from the Mead Act for Veteran's Educational Facilities. The buildings are of a strictly temporary type, and will be used only until replaced by more permanent structures, or until the present excess enrollment is reduced.

Ready By January

Present plans call for erection of the structures between the driveway on the north of the campus and the fence separating the school from the Garrett estate. Only foundation required will be shallow cement floors.

The Dean hopes the buildings will have been transferred and erected in time for the entrance of the next Freshman class in late January.

Sodality Union To Give Orphans Christmas Party

Plans are now complete for the Sodality Union's annual Christmas party for the orphans of St. Elizabeth's Colored Orphanage on Wednesday evening, December 18. Loyola and Johns Hopkins will provide entertainment and refreshments for the seventy-five children who are expected to attend.

At a business meeting of the college Sodality on November 25, Edward C. Barrett, Jr., was appointed to supervise the program of entertainment.

Individual Gifts

The other members of the Union, Notre Dame, Mt. St. Agnes and Goucher, are obtaining individual gifts for each of the children.

"All the preparations are complete," said the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S.J., "with the exception of a suitable Santa Claus. Joe Bronushas, who usually filled this role, has now graduated and I would welcome any applications from burly members of the student body."

Consider Cell System

For future consideration by the Union is a proposal made by Gloria Raffles, Notre Dame, for introduction into the Union of the cell technique of Catholic Action.

As explained by Miss Raffles, the cell technique consists in the formation of small groups who apply principles of Catholic Action in everyday life. The cell acts both as a study and as an action group.
